I don't know where I met Procrastination,
Or how we became friends,
But due to spasmodic elation,
Our relationship never ends.

Except a few days at quarter's hind,
We're always side by side.
Demanding, true, but I don't mind.
Whoever said love is easy, lied.

The rewards of our affinity?
Semi-free time galore!
Procrastination's in the vicinity?
Guarantee I'll never be bored.

There have been hard times, I admit.
"There are plenty of fish in the sea."
"This is about Efficiency, isn't it!"
But I guess we were just meant to be.

I don't know where Procrastination and I met,
Or what my teachers will say,
But I haven't failed school yet,
Some things go better together, don't they?
