

HHS Art Club

By Brindi L.

Have you ever found yourself frustrated because you don't know how to express yourself? Maybe you have creative ideas that you would love to get out and share with others.

Sometimes it can be hard to find ways to share those ideas through things that we normally use like words or music. That's why Hurricane High School has their very own Art Club.

Many people don't realize how much the Art Club has to offer. Nevertheless, that doesn't prevent them from doing so many interesting things that are beneficial for their members and community.

When asked why she joined Art Club, Emily Tenney, a student at Hurricane High School said, "When I first joined, I was lonely and shy. I wanted to connect to others who shared my interest in art. It's really helped me come out of my shell!" For Emily, Art Club has been delightful as she has made new friends and created great relationships. She adds that any student who wants to join can have the same benefits.

She also commented, "Art club connects HHS's artists. It unites us across grades, mediums, and Jones' many classes." Art Club also gives students a great opportunity to interact with others that they may not on a normal day-to-day basis.

There are also so many opportunities Art Club students get to have! Emily informed, "We help out with school-wide events, such as when we made backdrops for the 22-23 Prom." Art Club brings together students all across the school as they help out and plan so many events from school dances to community art shows. The members of Art Club have amazing experiences as they serve the school and their peers, growing and having a good time with the responsibilities. Not only is this a great character building experience, it's a lot of fun!

Art Club gives students an opportunity to develop interpersonal leadership skills. It also helps students build a connection with Hurricane's local artistic community.

Truly, Hurricane High's Art Club has so much to offer! It's really enjoyable, helps students try new things, connects students to the community, and teaches students important life skills. Students can talk to Mr. Jones (rooms 314 & 315) about joining. Come check the Art Club out to see everything they have to offer!
