World Connections

Juniors Addie Stout, GraceAnn Christiansen, McKay Campbell, Michael Colby and Corbin Beutler spent nearly three weeks in China this summer. Two weeks were spent teaching at two different schools with additional days to tour Beijing. Corbin and Michael stated that there were two aspects to their experience: teaching with students in the classroom, and immersing in the culture with their host families. At the schools, HHS students were placed in charge of "activity rooms," where they would teach Chinese students songs, do crafts, and introduce the kids to American culture. Michael and Corbin also stated that it was a huge culture shock, and that they were treated like celebrities everywhere they went. They also had some culinary adventures, eating things like cicadas, cow throat and sheep blood!

"People in China are really nice. Family is of huge value to them and that was my favorite part." -Corbin B.

Michael singing with a Chinese student

"Switching host families was the hardest part." - Michael C.

Language Arts

The sophomore Language Arts classes have studied the book Night this quarter, learning about the Holocaust. The students of Mrs. Wiese & Ms. Douglas expressed their reactions to the book thorough poetry and quotes.

My Dad's Rusty Spoon By Ryder Christensen

My Dad's rusty spoon is a living relic.

It looks like it had fought for the Germans in WWI.

It sounds like the high pitch sirens that would go off in the camps.

It feels gritty, and soulless; like the heart of a ghost.

It smells like the barbed wire that surrounded our camps.

It tastes like the chunky borscht my mom and dad would make together back home.

It allows me to feel my father, after he is no longer with us.

"Studying Night is important to study history and show compassion for other people and their stories."
-Millie Nelson

"When I read Night, it gave me a better understanding of what happened in the concentration camps. . . I think it was valuable because I feel as time goes on, we forget more about what happened."
-Ysabel Pettit

Reppin' HHS

This summer, Hurricane High's own Kate Erickson and Gracie Yates were both selected as Mayors of their respective cities at ALA Utah Girls State!

Brett Dickey

Brett competes as a rock crawler. Rock crawling is an extreme form of off road driving, using specialized vehicles.

Brett recently competed in the Trail Breaker competition. He's the youngest person to ever compete in this event. Brett not only competed in the event, but won the event outright, beating some of the best drivers in the world.

The best part... Brett doesn't have a driver's license yet!

FINE ARTS

HHS Orchestra held its first concert on October 7th. Students shown practicing under the direction of student conductor Jason Anderson.

Cedar Mountain Art Day

Hurricane High students took 1st & 2nd place In Plein Air (painting outside) 1st, 2nd & 3rd in figure drawing and the Judge's Choice award for woodcarving.

Go Tigers!

Psychology

Mrs. Long's amazing Psychology students tried their skills "attempting" to ride Mr. Tobiasson's Backwards Bike. It's harder than it looks!!

Mrs. Long's Psychology class created Brain Superheroes and Supervillains.

Mrs. Long's awesome Psych 2 students are learning about the brain.

An abundance of fun was had in Mrs. Long's Sociology class creating an individual "me" celebration on CUPCAKE DAY!! We are studying social inequalities and felt first hand nepotism and bias as our 3 illustrious judges (J. Homer, T. OBray & J. Adamson) critiqued the student creations with all the superficial bias they could muster!

Grants & Awards

Golden West Credit Union presented our Math for Life and Financial Literacy teachers with a $500 grant. The grant is to support the education of our students as they prepare for a life of wisdom and success with this vital life-tool of finance.

Content Marshall's class received an award of $400 and a Nintendo Switch from Walk With Autism, a local organization whose purpose is to bring awareness and acceptance of autism to our community. Marshall will use the funds to help create a space where her students can play, create, and explore while learning social skills.
